'B & K' Queen's Guests

Juggle Cups, Give Presents

By RICHARD K. O'MALLEY
WINDSOR, England (AP)—Soviet Premier Bulganin and Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev took tea Sunday with Queen Elizabeth II in ancient Windsor Castle.

They presented the Queen with a Russian sable wrap at a tea-table meeting during which young Prince Charles and Princess Anne were brought in for a polite how-do-you-do.

In nearby London thousands of Eastern European refugees marched in orderly protest against the visit of the Soviet leaders to Britain. They prayed also for those behind the Iron Curtain.

Bulganin and Khrushchev motored here through the British countryside from Chequers, where they were guests of Prime Minister Eden at his official country residence. It was a pleasant spring day.

Both Smiling

There was no official statement on what was taken up. Both Russians smiled broadly as they left.

Eden preceded them by 20 minutes to Windsor, presumably to supervise arrangements for their arrival.

Windsor, the country place of British royalty, sits commanding at the head of the Thames Valley overlooking the approaches to the heart of the English countryside.

Many gathered to watch the arrival of the two Soviet leaders. There were some cheers from the crowd and the Russians waved genially.

All Is Not Sweetness

While the two Kremlin leaders were balancing teacups in the great grey castle, London police were busy seeing that the marchers did not get out of hand.

There were demonstrations also in industrial Leicester, where 800 Ukrainians, Poles and other refugees marched.

In London the men and women carried signs reading "Russians Get Out of Poland" and "It is Khrushchev Who Personally Shares the Responsibility for the Deportation of a Half Million Polish Citizens."

"Bulganin Gave the Nazis a Free Hand to Raze Warsaw to the Ground," said another.

Police said 16,000 marched to the Cenotaph, the nation's major war memorial in the shadow of Big Ben.

Young men and women wearing black armbands knelt in prayer. Kneeling with them was Lt.-Gen. Wladyslaw Anders, former commander-in-chief of Poland's armed forces and now an exile.

The Soviet leaders arrived at Windsor Castle like two eager uncles distributing gifts.

Besides the sable for the Queen, there were two sleek Russian horses for the Duke of Edinburgh and Prince Charles. And a tiny brown bear for Princess Anne.

The horses were sent to the royal stable at Buckingham Palace under the care of two Russian Cossacks. The brown bear was sent to the London Zoo.

Spring To Be 'Off-Again' For Monday

... Snow Falls In West

Nebraska's "on-again, off-again" spring weather was off again early Monday as light snow was falling in both Chadron and Scottsbluff and state temperatures neared the freezing mark.

The rest of the state, suddenly chilled Sunday after a balmy period, was to stay in the ice box at least through next Tuesday, the weather bureau said.

The forecast called for light rain or snow spreading over the state Monday and continuing in the east and north central Monday night and on into the east Tuesday.

A slight warming trend was expected Monday night, but that was to be short lived. For it was to turn colder Tuesday with the help of increasing northerly winds.

The highs expected for Monday were to reach only in the 40s in the northeast to the 50s in the extreme southwest.

Light showers fell at spotted intervals over the state earlier Sunday. The heaviest downfall, measuring .19 inch, fell at Scottsbluff while Sidney had a .17 inch rain.

At Grand Island precipitation measured .06; at North Platte it was .06 and at Imperial .03. Omaha had .01 inch and traces fell at Lincoln, Valentine and Chadron.

Sunday's high reading, recorded at Grand Island and Lincoln, reached only 53. Omaha and North Platte had 52 highs. Low reading in the state was at the freezing mark at Sidney while Lincoln's low was 36. At Omaha it was 37.

A WHALE OF A PIG

It takes a lot of coaxing to move a 900-pound pig, and purebred Tamworth pig "Boto" just isn't interested in going to the springtime yard. Farmers Albert St. Aubin (left) and Earl King of Claremont, N. H., are trying to move it from the barn where it was confined during the winter months, but it seems more interested in chewing snow than moving. The big pig is just a youngster, two years old this month. (AP Wirephoto)

SPANKING TOUCHED IT OFF

Brooding Boy, 11, Kills Mother, Dad, Brother

MANSFIELD, Conn. (AP)—An 11-year-old boy with poor eyesight, apparently brooding, police said, over a parental spanking, shot and killed his parents and an older brother who picked on him.

The shooting occurred at milking time Saturday night on the small farm of Richard Curgenven, 42. He died in the triple tragedy with his wife Beatrice, 41, and their other son, Richard Jr., 14.

Police said no one knew about it until Robert Curgenven went to a neighbor's home to tell him what he had done after having spent the night with the bodies.

Bullets In Teeth

State Police Lt. Harry Taylor reported the boy said he sighted a .22 caliber rifle with his left eye, because his right eye was poor, and held his spare bullets in his teeth.

Taylor said that the boy's story sounded so fantastic that the neighbor, to whom he reported the tragedy, would not at first believe it.

Taylor said Robert apparently planned the shootings a week ago, after his last spanking. At that time, his father told him to put out the light in his room and go to bed and finally spanked him after repeating the order several times.

Last Friday Robert told a friend that he would leave him his chickens because he was going away. Police thought this indicated he was planning the killings, since he didn't mention any plans for running away.

Taylor said Robert gave this account of the shootings, speaking quickly, and only breaking into tears two or three times.

He went out to the barn about 5:30 o'clock where he found his brother milking a cow.

"I'm going to shoot you," said Robert, and the brother told him "get out of here." Richard went on milking.

Brother Staggered

Robert shot him twice, reloading each time, and the brother threw the milk can at him. Robert backed out of the barn door, and when Richard staggered out, he shot him a third time in the stomach. The older boy fell to the ground and Robert shot him for the fourth time, in the head.

Then he went around to the front of the house. His mother was in a bedroom and he shot through the window. The bullet struck her just over the heart.

His father came out of the front door. Robert said, "Hi, dad," and shot him. The father crumpled on the path outside the front door. His father told Robert to give him the gun, but Robert reloaded and shot him again.

Then he got in the old farm pickup truck, and was going to drive into town. He told police he was going to give himself up but changed his mind and went back and slept in the house. He even ate before he went to bed.

Sunday Robert went to the Three Flee Huskerville Home Fire

Blaze Destroys Trailer House

An estimated $4,000 to $5,000 fire Sunday evening gutted a trailer home in Huskerville. Firemen said it was a total loss.

Airman Bobby J. Roswell, his wife, and tiny child were inside the trailer when a kerosene heating stove exploded. Firemen said the family "had a lucky escape" by fleeing from a door in the opposite end of the trailer.

Mrs. Roswell screamed "fire" and grabbed her child to escape from the burning trailer. Her husband followed.

Flames leaped 20 feet in the air when two high pressure fire rigs from the Lincoln Fire Department and one rig from the Air Base arrived at the scene.

Assistant Fire Chief Henry Badberg said, "We were inside the trailer in five minutes."

Firemen brought the fire under control in another five minutes, he said.

Adjacent to the burning trailer was a farm house occupied by the owner of the trailer, Homer Leeland, and another trailer.

The alarm sounded for Lincoln firemen at 7:56 p.m. Firemen said there was no insurance on the clothing or furniture which was destroyed.

Democrat Campaigners Rest—Still Get In Salvos

By The Associated Press
Sen. Estes Kefauver and Adlai E. Stevenson spent a relatively quiet Sunday in the national capital in their cross-country campaign travels but both got in new salvos at the Eisenhower administration.

Stevenson, interviewed on a radio-TV show, accused President Eisenhower of "misleading" the American people by saying there is room for cautious belief that the world situation is improving.

On the contrary, the 1952 Democratic presidential candidate said, he believes the situation now is less promising than when Eisenhower took office. He said "our posture at home has diminished our leadership is baffled and uncertain."

Hill Speech
Stevenson's criticism hit at a speech by the President before the American Society of Newspaper Editors. Eisenhower told the group that in comparison to three days ago "we have reason for cautious hope that a new, a fruitful, a peaceful era for mankind can emerge from a haunted decade. The world breathes a little more easily today."

It may well be, Stevenson said, that the chances of a shooting war have diminished but "we could very well lose the contest without the Communists firing a shot."

Kefauver's dig at the administration came as the backdrop of a compliment.

Arriving by plane from the Far West, Kefauver applauded a proposal Eisenhower put forth in his speech to the editors for a bipartisan brain trust to advise the government on foreign policy.

After his interview, Stevenson told newsmen he approves of the general idea of getting advice from citizen groups but he doesn't know if such machinery should be set up on a permanent basis.

Kefauver spoke at a fundraising dinner sponsored by his Washington supporters. He told his listeners he seeks home rule for residents of the capital city. The Tennesseean has a slate of delegates entered in the District of Columbia presidential primary May 1.

Gov. Averell Harriman of New York, appearing on a TV show, continued to describe himself as an "inactive candidate" for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Harriman was asked about reports that he and his supporters are putting money into Kefauver's campaign. "It's absurd to suggest such a thing," he replied.

A strong backer of Harriman, Democratic National Committee member Carmine C. DeSapio of New York said in another TV interview that support for the governor for the presidential nomination "emanates from all parts of the country."

Three presidential primaries are on tap Tuesday in Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, and Alaska. Attention centers on Pennsylvania's "popularity" contest between Stevenson and Eisenhower.

It won't be a head-on clash since the Keystone State's 4,790,195 registered voters can't cross party lines. However, politicians are expected to weigh the results in comparison with the 1952 primary and general election figures. Both sides are making optimistic predictions.

Light voting is expected in Massachusetts since no direct contests of consequence are involved on the party ballots. However, the voters may write in their preference for the presidential nominations and a late write-in race might develop on the Democratic ballot among Stevenson supporters and a group promoting "favorite son" endorsement of Rep. John W. McCormack (D-Mass.).

Omaha Man Killed In Argument Over $1 Beer Money

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP)—A 45-year-old Omaha man was stabbed to death Sunday during an argument over a dollar's worth of beer, police said.

Officers identified the victim as Ernest Hill, a Negro.

Hill and Shelly Barbee, 28, of East St. Louis became involved in a fight, police said, after Barbee had failed to return to his apartment with either a dollar bill or a dollar's worth of beer for which the money had been given him.

East St. Louis police are holding Barbee for a coroner's inquest.

It Happened In NEBRASKA---

In 1846, emigrants following the Overland Trail found a "post office" in western Nebraska. They left letters at an abandoned trapper's log cabin with the request that later wagon trains deliver them if destinations permitted. The cabin walls were also covered with notices of lost goods and cattle.

GOOD STORIES... good friends... and a good, refreshing glass of beer! They go together. For beer belongs. It is the hospitality drink of modern-day Nebraska. So next time friends drop in, serve a sparkling glass of beer. So right for every occasion!

Margaret And Hubby Reach Island Retreat

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP)—Clifton Daniel Jr. and his bride—the former Margaret Truman—reached their Bahamas honeymoon destination Sunday night after a flight from Chicago via Miami, Fla.

The couple, married Saturday at Independence, Mo., flew into Miami from Chicago and left on another plane for Nassau. They got a festive reception from wellwishers who congregated at Miami.

A crowd of about 400 persons crowded onto the landing ramp at International Airport to catch a glimpse of the newlyweds.

The couple posed for pictures and chatted with newsmen for several minutes.

The bride gave a big smile when asked if she is planning a large family.

"That's up to my husband," she replied.

She said they had a fine trip from Chicago.

The Daniels, who were married at Independence, Mo., home of the bride's parents, former President and Mrs. Harry S. Truman, were met at the train in Chicago by two police detective sergeants, Edward Egan and John Payton, old acquaintances of the bride's father.

Mayor Richard J. Daley supplied his official limousine for the couple, and sent a bouquet of blue-lavender orchids which harmonized with Mrs. Daniel's blue and white costume.

She wore a white hat featuring a three-tier skirted border, a dark blue coat, a dark blue dress with white print design, and open-toed patent leather high-heeled sandals.

Huge Demon Jet Project Total Loss—Senators

... 'Lesson Only Gain'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Investigating senators said Sunday the Navy's effort to produce a new jet fighter during the Korean War was "a total loss" except for "lessons learned."

The project cost more than 265 million dollars, the senators said. The highly critical report came from the Senate Preparedness Investigating subcommittee headed by Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas.

It was one in a series of investigations and reports made by both Senate and House groups on the Navy's attempts to develop an all-purpose carrier based fighter, known as "Demon."

"Except for the lessons learned, the money spent on the F3H (Demon), is a total loss," Johnson said in a letter forwarding the report to Chairman Russell (D-Ga.) of the Armed Services Committee.

Few Even Flew
The report said 107 engines for the plane were delivered by Westinghouse Electric Corp. and 60 aircraft by the McDonnell Co. of St. Louis. Only a few of the fighters have actually been flown and none is slated for operational use.

Many of the fighters, minus engines, are to be used for ground instructions, testing and similar purposes.

The report credited Navy officials with cooperation in the inquiry. But Johnson rejected their claim that the Demon program eventually was successful because of the recent delivery of the F3H, powered with an Allison engine.

Johnson said the program was "shot through with failure and delay."

Try 'Em First
The report said a new aircraft procurement plan by the Navy "called 'try before you buy'" is best adapted to peacetime conditions.

In the main, this plan calls for full testing of both engines and airframes before new models are put into full production or placed in active use.

Johnson said the Demon experience has convinced Navy officials that the Demon program was successful because of the recent delivery of the F3H, powered with an Allison engine.

Army Chaplain, Son, Feared Lost In Dam Reservoir

CLARKSVILLE, Va. (AP)—An Army helicopter and skin divers from Fort Bragg, N. C., joined the search Sunday for Maj. Frank B. Park and his 14-year-old son who were feared drowned in the deep waters of John H. Kerr Dam Reservoir.

Maj. Parks and his son Michael, were with a Boy Scout outing Saturday. Their empty boat was found on the giant lake Sunday morning.

Maj. Parks is a chaplain in the 82nd Airborne Division and had been active in scouting. His wife, who is at Fayetteville, N. C., near the fort, is from Lincoln, Neb.

Records show that he was born at Rush Center, Kan., and his permanent address is Alvin, Tex.

The Parks boat was one of several in a 20-mile scout outing on the lake which borders Virginia and North Carolina and is between 80 and 90 feet deep. The other boats completed the trip but the small outboard Park motorboat was found empty in the nuthush area of the lake.

Entry Foiled

John Arkfeld, owner of Johnny's Dairy Sweet at 6401 Havelock, reported an attempt to enter the building by prying on a window casing with a screwdriver. A window estimated at $2 was broken during the attempt, police said.

Princess Grace Goes Fishing—Gets Little Ones

FORMENTOR, Balearic Islands (AP)—Princess Grace of Monaco went fishing Sunday—the third day of her honeymoon. She didn't catch anything worth mentioning.

Prince Rainier III and his American bride reached this Mediterranean honeymooners paradise Saturday afternoon aboard their yacht Deo Juvante II. They plan to stay here until Tuesday.

The newlyweds Sunday night went ashore for the first time since leaving Monte Carlo on their honeymoon voyage last Thursday. They attended a gala banquet in the local hotel given by wealthy friends of the Prince.

The Prince didn't appear on deck all day. But his bride came out with Oliver, her French poodle, shortly after noon. She had a fishing rod and cast a line over the side. She caught a few fish that appeared from the shore to be just out of the minnow class.

This applies to the politically important midwestern farm states as well as other sections of the nation, Benson said in a recorded television interview.

"I feel," he said, "that the American people generally admire the President for taking this courageous stand, and I believe they agree that it was the wise stand—it was best for agriculture."

Benson gave his views in response to a question whether the farm bill veto would injure the Republican party's standing in farm areas. He said his reply was based on letters, wires and telephone calls from those sections.

Another Republican, Sen. Carlson of Kansas, was more cautious in summing up the political implications of the farm issue. In a separate interview he said:

"I would be less than frank if I didn't state that some of the (Republican) majorities will be less than in 1952."

Carlson called Benson "an outstanding, great American citizen," but he said there is an "unfortunate feeling out among farm people that Secretary Benson is not friendly to agriculture."

Thais Stage Huge Funeral For Ex-Queen

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)—Hundreds of thousands of Thai mourners paid tribute Sunday to the late Queen Grandmother in an ancient Oriental ceremony seldom seen by foreigners.

It was the funeral cortege and cremation of Queen Samed Phra Sawarin Paramarajithewi Phra Phannassa Ayika Chao. She died last Dec. 17 at the age of 93.

Three hundred thousand Thais stood 40 deep in reverent tribute along a three-mile course while the huge, museum-piece four-wheel chariot bearing the royal urn containing the body, was drawn slowly by 200 men.

Behind the funeral carriage, walking in funeral cadence of a mile an hour, strode young King Phumphon Aduldet, the Boston-born Thai sovereign, and the royal court of mourners.

A Boom a Minute
Guns boomed each measured minute of the funeral march. Hawkers sold black balloons painted with white Buddhist markings. The men wore white with black ties. The women wore black.

The footmen drawing the funeral chariot wore flap-eared ancient hats and the old-time wraparound pantaloons called panungs. Behind the chariot, holding down its pace with a rope, were another 100 footmen acting as brakes.

It took from 7 a.m. until noon to get the chariot down the line of march to the Cheddi, where the golden-covered urn was lifted in place on the nearly three-story-tall pyre. King Aduldet and his young queen lighted the funeral fire with candles in the late afternoon.

VETO AIDED GOP, SAYS SEC. BENSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson said Sunday he believes the "prestige of the Republican party has been enhanced and increased" by President Eisenhower's veto of the omnibus farm bill.

This applies to the politically important midwestern farm states as well as other sections of the nation, Benson said in a recorded television interview.

Soviet Anti-Religious Drives Gaining, Says Priest

By TOM WHITNEY

NEW YORK (AP) — An American Roman Catholic priest who spent 26 months in the Soviet Union before being expelled says Communist antireligious drives continue to gain ground against Soviet churches. The question arises, he adds, as to how long the Russian Orthodox faith can endure without degenerating into mere superstition.

Nevertheless, the Rev. Georges Bissonnette, who served as chaplain to Catholics in the Moscow foreign colony, declares in a book to be published Monday by McGraw-Hill that religion is still very much alive in the U.S.S.R., a "worthwhile menace to the Godless state."

Father Bissonnette was ordered out of the U.S.S.R. in March 1955 as a measure of retaliation against the U.S. government for its refusal to permit a Soviet Russian Orthodox archbishop to remain in America. Some months before this occurred Father Bissonnette made news when he was introduced at a Moscow diplomatic reception by Communist Chief Nikita Khrushchev to then Premier Georgi Malenkov as "an intelligent and affable man."

Freedom?

The priest writes that for the Russian Orthodox church in the U.S.S.R. there is "freedom of religious practice as guaranteed by the Constitution of 1936 but the restrictions imposed on the church make this a Soviet 'freedom'."

Father Bissonnette makes these other points:

The religion of the ordinary Russian Orthodox believer in the Soviet Union is more a way of life, than a body of doctrine. The ordinary Russian thinks the way a peasant does, does not seek learned justification for what he does but is content to repeat the actions of his father and grandfather. It is sufficient for him to be permitted to go to church on certain occasions and to practice the virtues of meekness, long-suffering and charity. That is his religion. That he hears no sermons at all or that those he does hear ask him to back Communist-sponsored "peace campaigns" does not touch the essentials of this faith.

Over Their Heads

Soviet scientific atheist propaganda goes over the head of such believers. And when the Soviet government adopts direct repressive measures—closing churches and otherwise interfering with religious practices—the religious believers strike back with work slowdowns. As a result the Communists antireligious campaigns continually shift tactics. Nevertheless the priest writes, more churches are closed than open.

The Soviet government, he concludes, is certain it will win its fight against religion in the end and so is unwilling to risk organized resistance by pushing the fight too hard.

The higher echelons of the Russian Orthodox church, he asserts, are willing instruments of Soviet government policy at home and abroad—"but given the peculiar conception the Russians have of religion, it is possible that they are sincere clergymen."

Father Bissonnette, an Assumptionist Father now in New York studying for a doctor's degree at Columbia University.

Bus Driver Hits, Shoots At Man Wanting $1 Changed

CHICAGO (AP) — A city bus driver was arrested Sunday after, police said, he pistol-whipped and shot at a passenger who didn't have the exact fare.

The driver, Herman Lewis, 35, was charged with assault to kill. The Chicago Transit Authority announced he had been fired because of the incident.

The passenger, William Goggin, 51, a taxi driver, suffered a head laceration requiring several stitches.

Police said Goggin gave them this version of the fracas:

Having finished work, he got on a bus to go home and proffered a dollar bill to Lewis. Lewis refused to change the bill so that Goggin could drop 20 cents into the coin box.

Goggin then displayed 15 cents as the only change in his possession.

After some words, Lewis finally changed the dollar bill and Goggin dropped the fare into the box, saying, "I thought you didn't have change."

"Lewis stopped the bus," Goggin related to police. "He got up with a pistol in his hand and hit me on top of the head. We began fighting and the struggle took us to the rear exit. Lewis gave a yank on an emergency lever, opening the door, and stepped out. I followed him and he fired a shot at me. I was only five feet from him but he missed me."

Goggin said Lewis then returned to his bus and drove off.

Adlai Vs. Estes Draws Interest In Alaska Primary

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — Main interest will be on the Kefauver-Stevenson contest when Alaskans for the first time Tuesday mark their preferences for the presidential nominations.

The preference primary is part of a long and involved ballot which also covers candidates for territorial offices, ratification of a statehood constitution, and an issue of electing two nonvoting U.S. senators.

The names of Adlai Stevenson and Estes Kefauver are entered on the Democratic ballot. President Eisenhower and Sen. William F. Knowland of California will be on the Republican. Knowland's name was entered before the President decided to run again. There was no chance to remove it.

Alaska's delegation to the Democratic National Convention leans toward Stevenson. The 1952 delegation went along with Kefauver, but a recent poll shows the delegation this year almost 3-1 in favor of the former Illinois governor.

Anti-Communists Use Joe's Picture In Election Drive

ROME (AP) — Rome visitors think they were in Moscow in the old days—there are so many Stalin photos around.

Thousands were plastered all over the capital as campaigning got under way officially in country-wide municipal elections.

Anti-Communists put them up to pull votes from the Communist and fellow-travelling Socialists. Palmiro Togliatti and Pietro Nenni, respective heads of these parties, supported Stalin before he was downgraded.

A typical poster shows Stalin in a familiar pose, right arm extended as though making a point. "I am a bandit," the poster says, "but don't vote for those who were with me."

Clothing Taken

Three sheets and a bed spread valued at $12.96 were stolen from the clothesline at the rear of the E. R. Scott residence at 2237 T, police said.

Helen Dougherty of 2530 Q, told police that a skirt, blouse and 10 under garments were stolen from a clothesline west of the apartment house. Loss was set at $15.

SEA, AIR ARMADA LOCATES 33 OF 36 BOATS MISSING IN RACE

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — A sea and air armada, fanning out from the Southern California coast, Sunday located all but three motorboats of some 36 reported missing in a mainland-to-Santa Catalina Island race.

The Coast Guard used 17 ships, two airplanes and two naval reserve blimps to criss-cross the treacherous Catalina Channel for nearly 24 hours before accounting for 206 of the 209 outboard motorboats that were scheduled to start the race.

"We feel that we'll find the three unaccounted-for boats will turn out to have never left port," Cmdr. Arthur M. Davison, search chief, said. He said nine others believed missing proved to have scratched from the race.

Cmdr. Davison ordered the search continued, however.

The 21-mile race from nearby Cabrillo Beach to Avalon was sponsored by U. S. Sportsmen, Inc., of North Hollywood. Davison said a permit had been issued for the race and details of the channel had been discussed with the outboard enthusiasts.

Fight Likely In Senate On Social Security Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A sharp tussle is in prospect when the Senate Finance Committee starts work behind closed doors Tuesday to write its version of a bill broadening the Social Security program.

Democrats have been counting on the measure to give them a meaty campaign issue this year, especially since the Eisenhower administration came out flatly against the two main provisions in the bill.

However, prospects that these provisions will be retained by the committee were highly uncertain as the members prepared for the executive sessions, expected to last two weeks.

Lower Age

The two sections would lower from 65 to 62 the age at which women become eligible for Social Security retirement payments, and set up for the first time a program of benefits for persons totally disabled at age 50 or older.

Republican members said privately they believed both provisions could be stricken from the bill in committee, with the aid of one or two Democratic votes. The committee lineup is 8-7 Democratic.

But the GOP members also said they doubt whether such action could be sustained on the Senate floor, where the key votes are likely to come on recorded roll calls.

Some Republican senators already have announced they will vote for the two provisions, despite the administration's objection that they would impose too great a burden on the taxpayers.

Passed 372-31

The House passed the measure last year 372-31, with strong bipartisan backing.

Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.), a committee member, told a reporter that whatever action the committee takes, there would be a floor fight over the bill and the outcome there "is in doubt."

But he said he was sure the group would report out some sort of a bill, and make no effort to bottle up the legislation.

Some provisions of the measure, such as the extension of Social Security coverage to an additional 250,000 persons, are noncontroversial.

Twelve cases of wholesome colored comets, feature stories with plenty of pictures and the big entertainment section are a few reasons why nearly everyone reads The "Sunday Journal and Star."

Soviet Anti-Religious Drives Gaining, Says Priest

By TOM WHITNEY
NEW YORK (AP) — An American Roman Catholic priest who spent 26 months in the Soviet Union before being expelled says Communist antireligious drives continually gain ground against Soviet churches. The question arises, he adds, as to how long the Russian Orthodox faith can endure without degenerating into mere superstition.

Nevertheless, the Rev. Georges Bissonnette, who served as chaplain to Catholics in the Moscow foreign colony, declares in a book to be published Monday by McGraw-Hill that religion is still very much alive in the U.S.S.R., a "worthwhile menace to the Godless state."

Father Bissonnette was ordered out of the U.S.S.R. in March 1955 as a measure of retaliation against the U.S. government for its refusal to permit a Soviet Russian Orthodox archbishop to remain in America. Some months before this occurred Father Bissonnette made news when he was introduced at a Moscow diplomatic reception by Communist Chief Nikita Khrushchev to then Premier Georgi Malenkov as "an intelligent and affable man."

Freedom?
The priest writes that for the Russian Orthodox church in the U.S.S.R. there is "freedom of religious practice as guaranteed by the Constitution of 1936 but the restrictions imposed on the church make this a Soviet 'freedom.'"

Father Bissonnette makes these other points:
The religion of the ordinary Russian Orthodox believer in the Soviet Union is more a way of life, than a body of doctrine. The ordinary Russian thinks the way a peasant does, does not seek learned justification for what he does but is content to repeat the actions of his father and grandfather. It is sufficient for him to be permitted to go to church on certain occasions and to practice the virtues of meekness, long-suffering and charity. That is his religion. That he hears no sermons at all or that those he does hear ask him to back Communist-sponsored "peace campaigns" does not touch the essentials of this faith.

Over Their Heads
Soviet scientific atheist propaganda goes over the head of such believers. And when the Soviet government adopts direct repressive measures—closing churches and otherwise interfering with religious practices—the religious believers strike back with work slowdowns. As a result the Communists antireligious campaigns continually shift tactics. Nevertheless the priest writes, more churches are closed than open.

The Soviet government, he concludes, is certain it will win its fight against religion in the end and so is unwilling to risk organized resistance by pushing the fight too hard.

The higher echelons of the Russian Orthodox church, he asserts, are willing instruments of Soviet government policy at home and abroad—"but given the peculiar conception the Russians have of religion, it is possible that they are sincere clergymen."

Father Bissonnette, an Assumptionist Father now is in New York studying for a doctor's degree at Columbia University.

Ceremony On Sunday

MRS. DELANE E. WELSCH

At a late afternoon ceremony on Sunday, April 22, Miss Barbara Kay Schmoker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Schmoker, became the bride of Lt. Delane E. Welsch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Welsch of Milford. The church of Calvary Evangelical United Brethren Church was appointed with pyramidal arrangements of pink gladioli, white snapdragons and carnations, against a background of greenery for the 4 o'clock service, which was read by the Rev. D. R. Roker, and Miss Verna June Loos, organist, played the wedding music. Miss Loos also accompanied Miss DeLoris Beltz, vocalist.

Wearing identical frocks of Dresden pink taffeta were the matron of honor, Mrs. Barry Goldberg, the maid of honor, Miss Joyce Sporn, the bridesmaid, Miss Kay Erickson, and the junior bridesmaid, Miss Linda Welsch of Milford, sister of the bridegroom. Cuffs of the taffeta framed the shoulder-wide necklines of their fitted bodices and the skirts flared into waltz length. They carried bouquets of pink carnations frilled with green net. Miss Ruth Vollmer of Verdun and Miss Margaret Timm, Wilber, in green taffeta, lighted the candles.

Paul Stokely served as best man, and seating the guests were Dick Schmoker, brother of the bride, and Jack Francke, Lincoln, Keith Welsch, brother of the bridegroom, Don Freeman and Eugene Welsch, all of Milford.

Brocaded satin in the antique white tone fashioned the bride's Empire gown. The molded bodice was designed with a wide neckline and softly shirred elbow-length sleeves, and beneath the narrow waist, the shirred motif was repeated to give fullness to the skirt of unpressed pleats which extended into an aisle-wide train. Her illusion veil was held by a tiara of pearls and sequins, and she carried a cascade of pink roses centered with pink orchids.

A former student at North Central College, Naperville, Ill., the bride is a graduate of the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Alpha Lambda Delta and Pi Lambda Theta. Lt. Welsch attended the University of Nebraska and is a member of Alpha Gamma Sigma and Rodeo Club.

Was Bride On Sunday

MRS. GLENN STEVENS, JR.

Lighted candles and arrangements of yellow and white gladioli formed the background for the marriage of Miss Elaine L. Endorf, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest J. Endorf of Tobias, to Glenn W. Stevens, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn W. Stevens of Lincoln, which took place on Sunday evening, April 22, at the Zion Lutheran Church in Tobias. The Rev. Edward Becker, organist, played the wedding music. Mr. Kiekhaefer also accompanied Mrs. Kiekhaefer, the vocal soloist.

Miss Marion Endorf, the maid of honor, appeared in a frock of orchid net over matching taffeta which was fashioned with a sleeveless bodice, under a fitted lace jacket, and a bouffant skirt of ballerina length. The bridesmaids, Miss Marian Jan-sky and Miss Roma Buzek, both of Lincoln, wore costumes styled identically to that of the maid of honor but in the green tone. Each of the attendants carried a bouquet of yellow carnations.

Donald Carlson of Lincoln served Mr. Stevens as best man, and the ushers were Rollin Dreamer and Wayne Weaver, also of Lincoln.

The bride chose a gown of Chantilly lace over satin for her wedding. The long-sleeved bodice had a Queen Anne collar, dotted with pearls and iridescent sequins, and the voluminous skirt was completed with a long, court train. A crown of seed pearls held to the head her tiered, fingertip veil and she carried a princess bouquet of stephanotis, centered with an orchid.

After a reception in the church parlors Mr. and Mrs. Stevens left for a honeymoon trip to Colorado Springs, and upon their return they will reside at 1016 No. 66th St. For traveling Mrs. Stevens wore a beige wool suit with pink accessories. Pinned to her shoulder was a corsage of orchids.

BEFORE another day dawns we probably will have heard of numerous bits of new news for the current week, but at the moment activity, other than what we have mentioned in days past, is centered around next week-end. But there is something on today's calendar that has to do with a birthday—and a celebration.

Today Mrs. R. F. Robinson will be a luncheon hostess at

Entertained Alumnae Club

THE STAR IN SUBURBIA

After conversing with many of our friends in Cotner Terrace addition this week, it appears that they, as are so many other Lincoln residents, are spending lots of time in their yards and gardens on these warm and invigorating spring days. However, we did find some less fortunate folks who are confined to their homes because of children who are down with measles or chicken pox bugs. But, between digging and doctoring, there still are some who manage to find time for a little socializing.

For instance, Mr. and Mrs. Dwayne Karr are planning to have the husbands and wives of their regular pinocle group at their home for dinner and cards Saturday night, April 28th.

Storm of Lincoln, at an evening wedding which took place on Saturday, April 14. Pedestal baskets filled with white gladioli, and tall, lighted candles, decorated the chancel of Trinity Lutheran Church at Clara, Tex., for the service, which was read by the Rev. H. R. Frerking, minister of the St. Paul Lutheran Church of Wichita Falls, Tex. The wedding music was played by E. C. Gutz, organist, who also accompanied J. B. Featherston of Wichita Falls, the vocal soloist.

sister's only attendant was Mrs. Lee Roy Weiss of Sherman, Tex., who was frocked in deep pink taffeta and carried an arrangement of white daisies.

Serving as best man was Lee Roy Weiss, and the ushers were Sal Panico and Rufus Wilson of Wichita Falls.

The bride appeared in a gown of white lace and tulle over satin. Petal points of the lace framed the off-shoulder neckline of the snug bodice, which was completely by long, tapered sleeves, and the lace extended into deep points to trim the full skirt of tulle. A coronet of seed pearls held her illusion veil, and she carried a white Bible ornamented with a nosegay of white carnations and gardenias.

A reception was held in the parlors of the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Storm will make their home in Lincoln following the bridegroom's release from the Air Force this month. Mrs. Storm is a graduate of the Wichita Falls General Hospital School of Nursing, where she has been employed as a member of the nursing staff.

Afternoon Ceremony

MRS. LYLE HIGGINS

An all-white motif, suggested in arrangements of white gladioli, white snapdragons and lighted candles in branched holders, appointed the chancel of the Redeemer Lutheran Church for the wedding of Miss Joyce Irene Sieck, daughter of Mrs. Alfred Sieck, and Lyle Higgins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Higgins, which took place on Sunday afternoon, April 22. The 3 o'clock ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. Melvin Tassler, and Miss Reva Olson, organist, who played the wedding music also accompanied Mrs. Lamar Haas, the vocal soloist.

Blue crystalettes were chosen for the costumes of the attendants who were Miss Jo Ann Suez, the maid of honor; Miss Kathryn Cruise and Mrs. Richard Stall, bridesmaids. The princess-styled bodices were designed with shoulder-square necklines and brief sleeves, and the softly flared skirts of ballet length were accented at the hip-length with silk bows. Each carried a bouquet of blue-tinted and white painted daisies. The candles were lighted by Miss Joyce Shaw and Miss Janet Beckman of Malcolm, and Sheryl Kaye Haas was the flower girl. Charles Way of Sand Springs, Okla., was the ringbearer.

Leonard White served Mr. Higgins as best man, and seating the guests were Ernest Fleck and Warren Danley.

The bridal gown of tulle was frosted with an embroidered motif in the floral pattern. The moulded bodice, fashioned with bracelet-length sleeves and a minute tapered collar, narrowed to a slender waist beneath which the skirt was extremely bouffant and completed with a hem flounce of ruffled tulle. A plumed hat of lace, dotted with pearls, held to the head her illusion veil, and she carried a bouquet of white roses from which fell a shower of satin ribbon.

Following the reception, held in the church parlors, Mr. Higgins and his bride left for a honeymoon trip through the southern states. Upon their return they will reside at 641 Washington. For traveling Mrs. Higgins wore a navy suit with navy and white accessories.

Carpet Traffic Lanes Removed

Do you have a traffic lane? It's that beat down section of your beautiful carpet that has received the heaviest wear. To preserve the "new all over" look, those traffic lanes must be eliminated, so apply Blue Lustre carpet cleaner with an easy to use long handle brush. The colors will spring out fresh and bright with the nap open and fluffy to blend with the unsoiled sections of your carpet. One-half gallon of Blue Lustre concentrate cleans three 9 x 12 rugs.

Ceremony On Sunday

MRS. DELANE E. WELSCH

At a late afternoon ceremony on Sunday, April 22, Miss Barbara Kay Schmoker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Schmoker, became the bride of Lt. Delane E. Welsch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Welsch of Milford. The chancel of Calvary Evangelical United Brethren Church was appointed with pyramid arrangements of pink gladioli, white snapdragons and carnations, against a background of greenery for the 4 o'clock service, which was read by the Rev. D. R. Roker, and Miss Verna June Loos, organist, played the wedding music. Miss Loos also accompanied Miss DeLoris Beltz, vocalist.

Wearing identical frocks of Dresden pink taffeta were the matron of honor, Mrs. Barry Goldberg, the maid of honor, Miss Joyce Sporn, the bridesmaid, Miss Kay Erickson, and the junior bridesmaid, Miss Linda Welsch of Milford, sister of the bridegroom. Cuffs of the taffeta framed the shoulder-wide necklines of their fitted bodices and the skirts flared into waltz length. They carried bouquets of pink carnations frilled with green net, Miss Ruth Vollmer of Verdon and Miss Margaret Timm, Wilber, in green taffeta, lighted the candles.

Paul Stokely served as best

man, and seating the guests were Dick Schmoker, brother of the bride, and Jack Francke, Lincoln, Keith Welsch, brother of the bridegroom, Don Freeman and Eugene Welsch, all of Milford.

Brocade satin in the antique white tone fashioned the bride's Empire gown. The molded bodice was designed with a wide neckline and softly shirred elbow length sleeves, and beneath the narrow waist, the shirred motif was repeated to give fullness to the skirt of unpressed pleats which extended into an aisle-wide train. Her illusion veil was held by a tiara of pearls and sequins, and she carried a cascade of pink roses centered with pink orchids.

A former student at North Central College, Naperville, Ill., the bride is a graduate of the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Alpha Lambda Delta and Pi Lambda Theta. Lt. Welsch attended the University of Nebraska and is a member of Alpha Gamma Sigma and Rodeo Club.

Was Bride On Sunday

MRS. GLENN STEVENS, JR.

Lighted candles and arrangements of yellow and white gladioli formed the background for the marriage of Miss Elaine L. Endorf, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest J. Endorf of Tobias, to Glenn W. Stevens, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn W. Stevens of Lincoln, which took place on Sunday evening, April 22, at the Zion Lutheran Church in Tobias. The Rev. Edward Becker read the lines of the 7:30 o'clock service and August Keikhaefer, organist, played the wedding music. Mr. Kiekhaefer also accompanied Mrs. Kiekhaefer, the vocal soloist.

Miss Marion Endorf, the maid of honor, appeared in a frock of orchid net over matching taffeta which was fashioned with a sleeveless bodice, under a fitted lace jacket, and a bouffant petal skirt of ballerina length. The bridesmaids, Miss Marian Jan-

sky and Miss Roma Buzek, both of Lincoln, wore costumes styled identically to that of the maid of honor but in the green tone. Each of the attendants carried a bouquet of yellow carnations.

Donald Carlson of Lincoln served Mr. Stevens as best man, and the ushers were Rollin Dreamer and Wayne Weaver, also of Lincoln.

The bride chose a gown of Chantilly lace over satin for her wedding. The long-sleeved bodice had a Queen Anne collar, dotted with pearls and iridescent sequins, and the voluminous skirt was completed with a long, court train. A crown of seed pearls held to the head her tiered, fingertip veil and she carried a princess bouquet of stephanotis, centered with an orchid.

After a reception in the church parlors Mr. and Mrs. Stevens left for a honeymoon trip to Colorado Springs, and upon their return they will reside at 1016 No. 66th St. For traveling Mrs. Stevens wore a beige wool suit with pink accessories. Pinned to her shoulder was a corsage of orchids.

THE STAR IN SUBURBIA

After conversing with many of our friends in Cotner Terrace addition this week, it appears that they, as are so many other Lincoln residents, are spending lots of time in their yards and gardens on these warm and invigorating spring days. However, we did find some less fortunate folks who are confined to their homes because of children who are down with measles or chicken pox bugs. But, between digging and doctoring, there still are some who manage to find time for a little socializing.

For instance, Mr. and Mrs. Dwayne Karr are planning to have the husbands and wives of their regular pinocle group at their home for dinner and cards Saturday night, April 28th.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Stinson and their two children, Gary

Dr. and Mrs. James Looker and, especially their two children, Danny and Ronni Sue, are looking forward to a family dinner Thursday night, April 26th, at their home when they will entertain Mr. and Mrs. John Erick and their two children, Rodney and Jamie Lynn. The get-together is in honor of the departure of the Erick family. As we have told you before, they are soon to be leaving Lincoln to reside in Enid, Okla.

Settlers Near Gaza Strip Learn To Ignore Danger

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

AT A GAZA STRIP SETTLEMENT IN ISRAEL — The bearded young farmer said quietly:

"When you live with danger a few years, it loses its significance. Here on the edge of danger, within sight of the enemy, a vigorous people live, labor, raise families and hope."

The Kibbutz—cooperative farm—here stretches all the way to the frontier of the Egyptian-occupied Gaza Strip. From a hilltop nearby the settlers can see Gaza and Jebel Muntar, a hill which is the main artillery position of the Egyptians. The settlement, like many others, is within artillery range. Just a few days ago a 1.0 mm. mortar shell smashed the children's nursery minutes after the children were rushed into their bomb shelter.

Commandos Across the ravine-like, treacherous valleys that lace the frontier area, Egyptian-trained Palestinian commandos have been attacking under cover of darkness. One of their main targets is the pipeline which brings the life-giving water to the settlement. It is the water which made this one-time desert area's hostile soil burst with abundance.

By regulation now, the walls of the neat little houses must be of triple thickness to hold off the shells and bullets of the ever-present enemy. Sandbagged bunkers surround the settlement, manned by soldiers with their new Uzi machine guns, constantly on the alert for the attacks which can come at any moment.

A circle of floodlights on high poles surround the settlement, searching by night deep into the valleys for the infiltrating commandos. Since the lights went up the attacks have fallen off.

Shelters There must be underground shelters dotted about the settlement for the children to use when the attacks come. The robust children march out of their nursery in orderly fashion and wait while every able-bodied man and woman springs to the defense of the little community.

This is the way it is all along the frontier—farmers whose productivity is hampered by the share they must take in the static defense of their homes and families. They have liaison with the army and they are armed with tommyguns, grenades and small arms, but their greatest weapon is a determination to defend a dream with their lives.

Israel is a nation of 1,700,000 persons, surrounded by 40 million Arabs, a sea of hostility. Yet the people living along the borders, dividing their time between building, seem to reflect a quiet confidence they can hold their own.

Egyptian forces are now concentrated in the Sinai area just beyond the Palestine frontier. Syrian troops are reported concentrating near Israel's northern border. Jordan's Arab Legion is strung out along the western frontier.

"There will certainly be war in the not distant future—unless the Western Powers are determined to stop it and guarantee the status quo," a high-ranking Israeli army officer told me. "There is not much time left."

Miss Lucy, Rev. Foster Get Married

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Thousands of Dallas Negroes and a handful of whites crowded the St. John Baptist church here Sunday afternoon to see Miss Autherine Lucy marry her college sweetheart.

The Birmingham, Ala., secretary who was expelled from the University of Alabama after her attendance at the all-white school spared a series of campus riots, was shy and nervous.

The bridegroom, the Rev. H. C. Foster, a student minister of Tyler, Tex., who was a sophomore at Miles College, Ala., five years ago when she was a senior, was poised and smiling.

The 26-year-old bride wore a regal looking bridal gown of white silk with a lace bodice and a cathedral train.

The wedding had been scheduled to start at 3 p.m. but it took the bride's party almost half an hour to get in the church, through a mass of people.

The Rev. E. C. Estell, the church pastor, performed the ceremony.

Earlier the bride-to-be had said the couple would make their home in Tyler, where Foster preaches at two rural Negro churches. However, she said she would continue her efforts to reenter the University of Alabama or some other school.

Beginning May 6, she is to make a tour of Texas sponsored by the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People.

Settlers Near Gaza Strip Learn To Ignore Danger

Editor's Note—The following dispatch was written by AP writer William L. Ryan during his recent visit to Israel. He stopped in that country as part of a swing through the entire Middle East.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AT A GAZA STRIP SETTLEMENT IN ISRAEL (AP) — The bearded young farmer said quietly:

"When you live with danger a few years, it loses its significance." Here on the edge of danger, within sight of the enemy, a vigorous people live, labor, raise families and hope.

The kibbutz—cooperative farm—here stretches all the way to the frontier of the Egyptian-occupied Gaza Strip. From a hilltop nearby the settlers can see Gaza and Jebel Muntar, a hill which is the main artillery position of the Egyptians. The settlement, like many others, is within artillery range. Just a few days ago a 120 mm. mortar shell smashed the children's nursery minutes after the children were rushed into their bomb shelter.

Commandos
Across the ravine-like, treacherous valleys that lace the frontier area, Egyptian-trained Palestinian commandos have been attacking under cover of darkness. One of their main targets is the pipeline which brings the life-giving water to the settlement. It is the water which made this one-time desert area's hostile soil burst into abundance.

By regulation, now, the walls of the neat little houses must be of triple thickness to hold off the shells and bullets of the ever-present enemy. Sandbagged bunkers surround the settlement, manned by soldiers with their new Uzi machine guns, constantly on the alert for the attacks which can come at any moment.

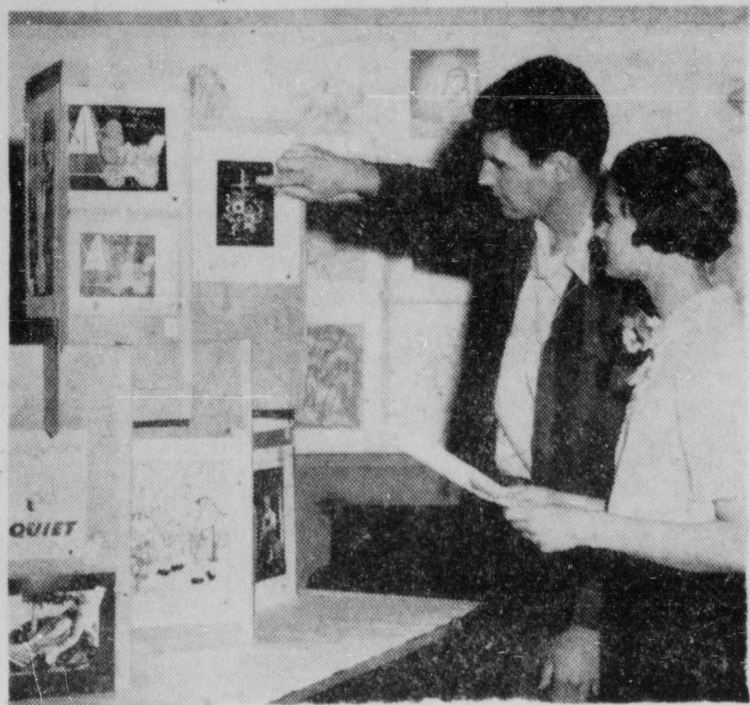

A circle of floodlights on high poles surround the settlement, searching by night deep into the valleys for the infiltrating commandos. Since the lights went up the attacks have fallen off.

Shelters
There must be underground shelters dotted about the settlement for the children to use when the attacks come. The robust children march out of their nursery in orderly fashion and wait while every able-bodied man and woman springs to the defense of the little community.

This is the way it is all along the frontier—farmers whose productivity is hampered by the share they must take in the static defense of their homes and families. They have liaison with the army and they are armed with tommyguns, grenades and small arms, but their greatest weapon is a determination to defend a dream with their lives.

Israel is a nation of 1,700,000 persons, surrounded by 40 million Arabs, a sea of hostility. Yet the people living along the borders, dividing their time between building, seem to reflect a quiet confidence they can hold their own. Egyptian forces are now concentrated in the Sinai area just beyond the Palestine frontier. Syrian troops are reported concentrating near Israel's northern border. Jordan's Arab Legion is strung out along the western frontier.

"There will certainly be war—in the not distant future—unless the Western Powers are determined to stop it and guarantee the status quo," a high-ranking Israeli army officer told me. "There is not much time left."

Communist Gets 10-Year Sentence

FLORENCE, Italy (AP)—Francesco Morano, Communist member of the Italian Chamber of Deputies, was sentenced to 10 years imprisonment for a wartime "double cross" slaying of five underground partisan fighters and two of their wives.

The 36-year-old deputy was tried in absentia. He fled from Italy to Czechoslovakia, where he was reported making Italian language broadcasts on Prague radio.

Miss Lucy, Rev. Foster Get Married

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Thousands of Dallas Negroes and a handful of whites crowded the St. John Baptist church here Sunday afternoon to see Miss Autherine Lucy marry her college sweetheart.

The Birmingham, Ala., secretary who was expelled from the University of Alabama after her attendance at the all-white school spared a series of campus riots, was shy and nervous.

The bridegroom, the Rev. H. C. Foster, a student minister of Tyler, Tex., who was a sophomore at Miles College, Ala., five years ago when she was a senior, was poised and smiling.

The 26-year-old bride wore a regal-looking bridal gown of white silk with a lace bodice and a cathedral train.

The wedding had been scheduled to start at 3 p.m. but it took the bride's party almost half an hour to get in the church, through a mass of people.

The Rev. E. C. Estell, the church pastor, performed the ceremony.

Earlier the bride-to-be had said the couple would make their home in Tyler, where Foster preaches at two rural Negro churches. However, she said she would continue her efforts to reenter the University of Alabama or some other school.

Beginning May 6, she is to make a tour of Texas sponsored by the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People.

Philadelphia, New York Divide In Doubleheader

Kazanski, Mays Star With Hits

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies and the New York Giants split a double-header Sunday, Philadelphia taking the first 3-1 on Ted Kazanski's three-run homer, and the Giants the nightcap 9-7 on another three run blast by Willie Mays and a timely single by Daryl Spencer.

Pitcher Robin Roberts defeated Johnny Antonelli in the opener but the Giants spoiled Curt Simmons' debut in the second game. It was Roberts' second win.

A crowd of 24,771 at Connie Mack Stadium saw the Phils make a desperate ninth-inning bid to overtake New York in the second game, loading the bases and scoring three runs. But Marv Blaylock was thrown out to end the game when he came up with the tying run on base.

Ruben Gomez landed his first mound triumph in the nightcap although he left for a pinch hitter in the seventh when the Giants put on a three-run rally.

Mays' clout came in the ninth to assure the verdict.

The Phillies tied the score in the second with three hits and went ahead on Stan Lopata's two-run homer in the third. It was Lopata's first of the season and came with Del Ennis on base.

Cards Divide With Braves

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves drubbed the St. Louis Cardinals Sunday 13-5 after the Redbirds had rallied to win a doubleheader opener 10-4 with an eight-run sixth inning that Stan Musial started with a single and climaxed with a grand slam homer.

The second-game victory put the Braves back into first place in the National League and gave them a split of the four game series.

The Braves hoped on right-hander Gordon Jones and three replacements for 16 hits and breezed to victory on the strength of a four run second and a six run fifth game. Milwaukee's attack included six doubles, two triples and two homers.

Meanwhile, Ray Crone, Milwaukee's right-hander recorded his first triumph while giving up 12 blows. He held St. Louis to only one run until his teammates gave him a sizeable lead.

Danny O'Connell had three safes and batted in three runs. Johnny Logan also hit safely three times.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name, if the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the figure and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you. Peace Offering

PORTLAND, Ore. (P) — A jay-walker here found his tongue too convincing to suit his conscience. Police Chief James Purcell received this letter signed by "A Loyal Citizen": "Several weeks ago I was accosted by an officer for jaywalking. By means of fair speech I squirmed my way out of being fined. However, my conscience has bothered me ever since, so please accept my humble apology and the enclosed $2 as a peace offering."

Quick Time Job

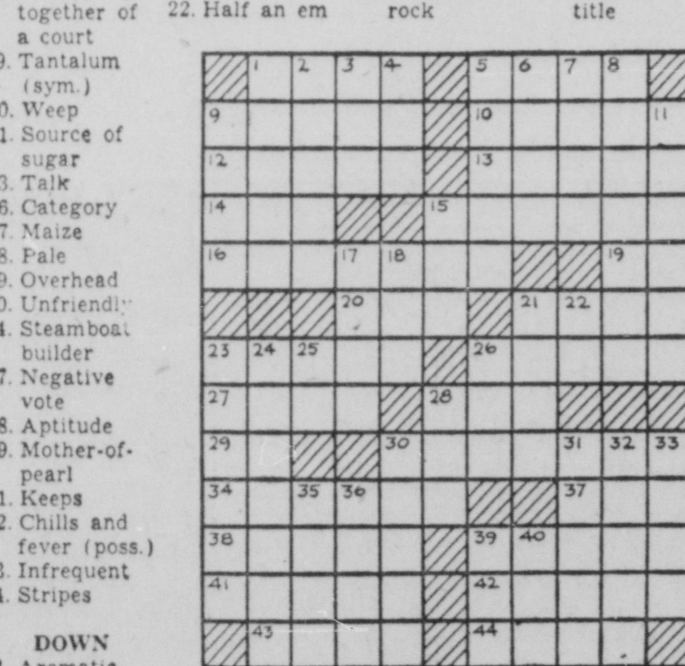

PHILADELPHIA (P) — Production of the song "Monte Carlo Moon" was a quick time job, says Ruth Seltzer, columnist for the Philadelphia Bulletin. She suggested to a friend, Olivia Watson, that she write a song about the Grace Kelly-Prince Rainier wedding. The words, with music by Mrs. William Burns, were turned out within 36 hours. Although neither Miss Watson nor Mrs. Burns are well-known song writers it was accepted and published within a week, Miss Seltzer says.
